REBEL BASEBALL IN FULL SWING

The Telstar Rebel baseball team will be undertaking another ambitious schedule this year. Led by senior letterman Grant Conrad, Greg Cushman, Rex Croteau and Glen Dunn, the young Rebel team opens its season on April 17 at home against Ellsworth beginning at 3:00. On Saturday, April 18, the tough Oxford Hills Vikings provide the opposition with a doubleheader beginning at 11:00 at South Paris. The opening regular season game is on April 28 at Buckfield. The Rebels again this year, will feature team speed and a lot of young pitching arms in hopes of regaining the winning formula that will bring them back to the playoffs. This year's team has been working extremely hard to overcome the record number of defensive miscues made last year. Come out and support this team in their quest to regain that championship form that has been a tradition associated with Telstar baseball.

Historical Societies Seek Formation of Regional Assoc.

Over 25 attended a meeting of Oxford County historical societies and other heritage groups held on Saturday, March 28, at the headquarters of the Bethel Historical Society, the Dr. Moses Mason House.

President Catherine Newell of the Bethel Society welcomed the group to Bethel and expressed her Society's interest in a regional historical association.

Dr. Stanley R. Howe, Director of the Bethel Society, explained the background for the meeting, continued on Page Eight

FROM THE bethel town office

The Board of Assessors held an informational and organizational meeting on Monday, March 30. Sam Timberlake was elected chairman and Peter Weeks was elected vice chairman. The Board reviewed the duties of the Town Manager and Town Clerk regarding assessment and general assessing duties were discussed. The Board officially welcomed Pat Doon and Bob Stevens as newly elected Assessors. Discussion was held regarding training. The new Assessors as well as those that have been assessors requested that all courses available should be brought to the attention of the Board. A review of the present court case with P. H. Chadbourne and Co. regarding the Chase Law was given by the Manager. The next meeting of the Board of Assessors will be Monday, April 6, at 7 p. m. in the Bethel Town Office.

WOULD-BE ASSASSIN WOUNDS PRESIDENT

As he was leaving a Washington, D. C. hotel at about 2:30 Monday afternoon, President Ronald Reagan was wounded by a shot fired from a 22 caliber revolver. Also wounded were James Brady, presidential press secretary; Timothy J. McCarthy of the Secret Service; and Thomas K. Delehan, a Washington, D. C., policeman.

The President underwent surgery late Monday afternoon at the George Washington University Medical Center to remove a bullet from his left lung. Reportedly he is making a good recovery.

Mr. Brady was wounded in the head, the bullet passing through his brain. Following an operation late Monday, he is reportedly in critical but stable condition.

Secret Service agent McCarthy, wounded in the stomach, and Policeman Delehan, who suffered a neck wound, are reported to be in satisfactory condition.

The suspect in the case, arrested at the scene, John Warnock Hinckley, Jr., aged 25, of Evergreen, Colo., is confined in maximum security at the Quantico Marine Base in Virginia, following arraignment in Federal Court. He was charged with an attempt on the life of a President and assault on a Secret Service agent. Charges have not been filed concerning the shooting of Brady and Delehan.

Trustees of Area Health Center Name Medical Director to Succeed Dr. Kraus

The Board of Trustees of the Bethel Area Health Center is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Patricia (Pixie) Williams as Medical Director, to become effective Sept. 1, 1981.

Dr. Williams is presently completing two years of residency in Family Practice at Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. Prior to coming to CMMC, Dr. Williams completed her family practice internship in the Social Medicine program at Montefiore Hospital in the Bronx, N. Y.

A native of Summit, N. J., Dr. Williams received her B.A. degree from Yale University with Distinction in English. She attended Harvard Medical School from which she graduated in 1978 with a degree as Doctor of Medicine.

Dr. Williams is no stranger to the Bethel area. She spent many summers of her childhood in this area, during which time she developed lasting friendships and a deep fondness for the New England life and recreation that Western Maine offers. She comes to Bethel with a firm commitment to the concept of rural community medicine and is looking forward to working with the present staff of the Center, and also with the residents of the greater Bethel area in identifying and meeting their health needs.

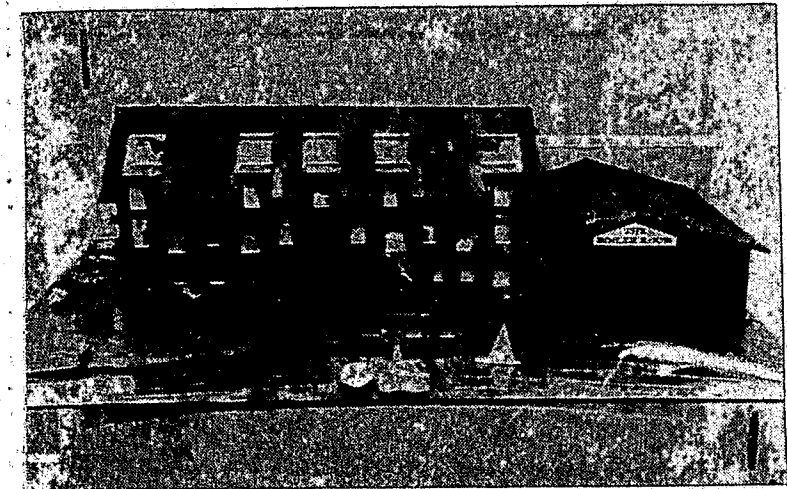

Because of Dr. Williams' strong conviction that obstetrical care is part of family practice, the Board of Trustees voted to add obstetrics upon her arrival to the services presently offered at the Center. Both the Center's Trustees and staff look forward to this exciting new dimension of health care delivery in the Bethel area.

Dr. Patricia Williams

In addition to her achievements in educational and medical training, Dr. Williams has been active in both social and professional organizations. Her main avocation is music which has been a source of much delight to her through participation in such groups as the Yale Glee Club, Battell Chapel Choir and the Harvard-Radcliffe Graduate Chorus. She has served as vice-president and trustee of the American Medical Student's Association and is presently a member of the Androscoggin County Medical Society, American Academy of Family Physicians, National Organization of Women, Doctors for the ERA, and American Medical Women's Association.

It is with regret by both the Trustees and the staff of the Center that Dr. Kraus is completing continued on Page Five

PHASE II OF ROBILLER'S RESORT CONSTRUCTION NOW UNDERWAY

Joe and Louise Robiller and their partner Douglas Woodbury are proud to announce the completion of designs and the beginning of construction of Phase II of the redevelopment of the former Mann's Clothing Factory and Mill in Bryant Pond.

Phase I of the project was completed on Sept. 1, 1980, and has been in successful operation since opening as "The Boiler Room Restaurant and Lounge".

Phase II is the construction of 13 condominium apartments with all support facilities for parking and recreation. The project will include tennis courts, floating dock for boating parties, beach and swimming area with diving board and floats. These 13 units will be sold to individual owners who may use the units as residences or lease or rent to the seasonal traveling vacationing public.

Located on Lake Christopher, a lake with four season unsurpassed beauty where trout and salmon abound, fishing, sailing, boating, and swimming are in the resort's own backyard. Two ski areas are within easy reach: three miles to Mt. Abram, and 18 miles to Sunday River. Three major shopping areas in Berlin, Rumford, and Norway-South Paris, are within a 30 minute drive. Route 26 provides easy access to the turnpike and all major highways. The cost of these units is estimated to be in the $50,000 to $60,000 range.

The project's architect is Project Design Consultants, Inc., of Auburn; the builders, Robiller and Woodbury Inv. Co.

COMMITTEES FORMING FOR INDIAN RAID BICENTENNIAL

Committees are now being formed to ensure that the Indian Raid Bicentennial set for Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1 and 2, will be one of the biggest events in Bethel's history. Many, many volunteers are needed and now is the time to get started in making certain all is in readiness for what promises to be lots of fun and excitement plus a lot of planning and hard work. Already much has been accomplished. During March over 500 news releases were mailed to newspapers, radio stations, travel editors, and other media sources throughout New England and New York announcing the event and describing some of the activities planned to celebrate. Over 20 militia units have been invited, in order to add an authentic touch to the festivities. The steering committee has been meeting regularly twice a month since January and much his National Health Services Corps commitment and leaving the Bethel area. He has played a large role in the development of the continued on Page Eight

North Waterford

Mrs. Jo Sanderson, Cor. — We have been having beautiful spring weather here, temperature up in the 60's and 70's looks like we might have an early garden. Wouldn't that be nice with prices up so high?

The Knight Riders went back up to Wilson's Mills this week end. There were 16 in the group. All reported a good time, but the snowmobiling wasn't nearly as good as last week. Guess that about winds up the riding for this year.

The North Waterford Congregational Church holds church services at 10:30 a. m. with Sunday School at 11 a. m. Easter is near, so anyone wishing to take part in Easter Sunday report to Marjorie Kimball, phone 583-4408.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lord entertained their son, Gordon and wife of Mexico, and their daughter, Bonnie and family from Claremont, N. H., and Oxford. There were 12 there.

Mrs. Jo Sanderson spent the week end with her daughter and husband, the Elmer Beans, in West Bethel. Jo took the Beans and Blanch Chapman to Portland for Sunday dinner. It was a most enjoyable day.

Sonny Bean went to the Stephens Memorial Hospital Monday for surgery on his leg.

Here it is housecleaning time and that's a dirty word, but what a relief when it's all over.

The Wind

Scatter clouds across the skies by the strength that within me lies. Tumbledown races over the field. Each one refuses its place to yield. My roar exceeds the roar of a lion. I have been known to twist steel and iron.

With fury so great I come from the west.

Birds are worried as they watch from their nest.

It's easy for me on a hot summer day.

To drift through a window to where the sick lay.

Unseen. I can cool the brow of a child.

Like a benediction—my touch so mild.

I chart the clouds from whence cometh the rain.

Enabling the farmer to grow his grain.

There's a meteorologist in the sky. Whatever the weather—don't ask Him why.

So long for now, your neighbor.

West Bethel

The Annual Meeting of West Bethel Union Church will be on Thursday, April 9, at 7 p. m. Members and interested friends of the church are urged to attend. Election of officers, adoption of 1981-1982 budget, and other important matters to be acted upon.

Rev. Norman Rust will take as his sermon next Sunday "When God Seems Absent". John II verses 1-27.

There was a large attendance at the musical concert at the church Saturday night. Program included special members by William MacArthur and friends of Gorham, N. H.; the Junior Choir; Senior Choir; Cathy Littlefield; Virginia Walker, and Rev. Rust.

Chapel Aid will meet at Ruth Gilbert's on Wednesday, April 8, preceded by supper at a restaurant.

West Bethel Youth Group of Union Church enjoyed an afternoon of swimming at Molloy's Motel in West Paris on Sunday. About 30 attended including Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Head, Mrs. Maurice Kendall, Rusty Merrill, and Roberta Gilbert, who furnished transportation.

Mrs. Paul Head has been spending a few weeks in Florida with her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Akers of Natick, Mass. On her return she visited her sister, Mrs. Erlon Merrill, of Weston, Mass., and other relatives.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Head were Mr. and Mrs. Al Gottig of Bartlett, N. H.

Pastor Bert Griffith of the Pleasant Valley Church took for his sermon on Sunday "Our Great Salvation" from Hebrews 2:3. The choir was in good form and sang "Through It All" and Debbie Luxton did a solo with Linda Stowell at the piano. There were about 80 in attendance and the organist was Cleve Lovejoy.

There were 37 at the special dinner Saturday night at the Bethel Spa. Cleveland Lovejoy took his organ so there was lots of music and song.

April 9 there will be a Women's Circle meeting at Carol Daley's. April 12 there will be a baptism at the South Paris Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Provencher (nee Barbara Merrill) of Mountain View Circle Road, have a new baby.

Pauline Smith, Cor. — Margaret Weeks returned home after being away 10 days in Massachusetts, helping out at her son's home.

Leroy and Pauline Smith attended the fried chicken supper Saturday evening, to benefit Lovell fire department. A big crowd. Rosemary Smith stayed with her grandmother.

We saw two flocks of wild geese go over today. My husband saw four from where he works going north. Does that mean an early spring?

Donald, Carolyn and Kathy Knights visited at Carolyn's folks, Leroy and Pauline Smith's, Sunday.

Esther Harriman and Florence Tibbetts had dinner with Marion Kendall Sunday. They also called on Iva and Fred Fox.

Glad to hear Dell Ricker is home from the hospital, also Pat Buck. The Morongs were at their camp on Cushman Pond, Sunday.

The Bob Williams had company over the week end.

Little Aaron Fox had pneumonia this past week, but is much better.

Mrs. Marjorie Jodrey, Cor. — A very sure sign of spring is baseball and the children of "South End" are out in force practicing in their own field across the road from Hall's Garage. The Hall boys, White boys, Shields boys, two sets of Gammon family boys, and girls and the Thurston boys, are getting a head start on the Little League season.

Mrs. Dora Morton was taken back to Rumford Community Hospital last week and is a patient in the intensive care unit.

Rev. David Wuori had as his sermon topic on Family Sunday, March 29, "The Human Situation". The worship leaders were the members of Mrs. Tracy's Junior High Class. Church School staff members met after the morning service. The Youth Group met at 5:30 p. m. to paint the basement floor. No Bible Study this week.

On April 8 the group moves to Polly Johnston's. Choir practice on Thursday at 6:45 p. m. Junior and Senior Choir at 7:30. On April 11 (Saturday) at 10 a. m. a rummage sale and food sale at the C.E.B. Thelma Clark is chairperson, with Margaret Learned, Marie Nupula, and Helen Amidon on the committee. Betsy Fisher and Violet Swain are chairpersons for the food sale. The rummage sale is for the benefit of the Ladies Aid and the food sale is for the church. Communion is on next Sunday with a special prayer for the conquest of cancer.

Easter Week: Tenebrae service April 16, Locke Mills. Easter Sunrise Service at 6 a. m. and breakfast at Andover. Youth Retreat, April 20-22, at Rockcraft Lodge in East Sebago. Leaders: Jane Rich (Andover), Phyllis Coolidge (Locke Mills), and David Wuori.

Friday, March 27, a very enjoyable evening was had by the Andover Congregational Sunday School of days gone by including the first stages of the church building and some very humorous Rally Days.

Sunday, March 29, the Sunday School opening exercises included missionary letters being read and a story "The Shoe Box" was told by Marjorie Stinson. All ages are invited to attend classes for ages three to adult.

Sunday, March 29, Pastor Grover's sermon was "The Better Plan". The choir sang "Grace Abounded More".

April 5, Jeanne Abbott from Gospel Fellowship Missions, will spend the day at Andover Congregational Church. She has been serving the Lord in Taiwan. Pastor Grover will preach on the subject "The Better Sacrifice".

The Ladies Bible Study met at Mary Bailey's on Tuesday. They are preparing a play to present some time in May.

There will be an Easter Sunrise Service and breakfast at the Andover Elementary School on Easter morning at 6:30.

Monday, April 13, there will be a meeting at the church at 7 p. m. for the vacation Bible School teachers.

On April 15, at 7:30 p. m., there will be a business meeting at the Andover Congregational Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Dolloff and twin daughters, Traci and Roxanne, Standish, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Swasey.

Charles S. Cutting, South Windham, was a supper guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cutting, on March 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cutting, Mrs. Beatrice Dresser and Mrs. Barbara Flaherty were in Lewiston on Sunday. Mr. Cutting attended a gun show at the Lewiston Armory.

On April 6, Ulfred and Linwood Tucker will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The East Andover Community Club is presenting them with a special 50th anniversary cake. Mrs. Tucker is one of the first members, and still active in the Club.

The Mollockett Mixers held their monthly dance at the Rumford High School Gym on Saturday night. The caller was Glenn Zeva and he brought with him two bus loads of "Sun Set Squares" of South Portland, 12 squares. There were 31 squares in all, the biggest dance ever. Those attending from Andover were: Doty and Roger Mills, Norma and Freeman Farrington, Brenda and Chris Bailey, Polly and Dick Johnston, Betsy and Don Mixer, Evelyn and David Wuori, Carol and Otis Morton, Rena and Delmar Parker, and Alan Bodwell.

Mrs. Hershal Hall and children, Kevin, Audrey, and Wendy, of Ashburnham, Mass., spent the week end with her father, Howard Glover, and visited her mother, Ella Glover, who is still a patient at Rumford Community Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. David Chassio and children, Mark and Mary, of Cambridge, Mass., spent the week end with her father, William Crooker.

If anyone has the new "Back to Basic" book put out by Readers Digest they might be interested in the article on page 394 "Shimshaw". The artist pictured there is Rachel Hodsdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hodsdon of Seaside, R. I., former Andover residents, and she is the grand daughter of Mrs. Flora Whitten, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hodsdon.

Mrs. Diane Cutting is chairperson of the Cancer Drive. She and her helpers who will be named later will be starting the drive on April 4. Be expecting some of the young people who will be calling.

Mrs. Mindy Gilbert, Bethel, daughter of Mrs. Dianne Cutting, is a patient at C.M.M.C. in Lewiston.

The Flower Committee and Greeters for the First Congregational Church of Andover for the months are: April 5, Don and Betsy Mixer; April 12, Dick and Polly Johnston; April 19, Marie Lang and Doris French; April 26, Florence and Don Kraft.

—M. S. A. D. #44

A variety of news items have been generated by the S. A. D. 44 Adult and Community Education program during the past week. On Wednesday, March 25, the Adult and Community Education Advisory Council held its regular meeting, with Council members Rex Thurston, Rachel MacKay, Carolyn Holden, Valerie Enos, Barbara Yates, Liz Lord, Gayle Russell and Roger Conant. Louise Seames attended briefly before going on to attend her Computer Programming class. Julie Daye has been added to the Council, and will bring her familiarity with the local program both as a student and a teacher to the group. Reports were given on the program review, the funding situation, and a number of coming events and subcommittee tasks were announced. The next meeting of the Council will be devoted primarily to program planning for 1981-82. Anyone who has suggestions to offer regarding courses for next year, may contact any Council member.

Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell attended a conference in Augusta on "Adult Learner Advocacy: Barriers to Lifelong Learning" held on March 26. Speakers were Francis Macy, Director of the National Center for Educational Brokering, and John Martin, Speaker of the Maine House of Representatives.

The students in Barbara Lucas' Basic English Class which meets at the Fire Station on Thursday mornings are working in a new programmed English Grammar text, and finding it exciting and helpful. They are able to progress at their own rate, and are confident that when they move on to a new lesson, they have mastered the previous material.

Students in all S. A. D. 44 Adult and Community Education classes have found themselves on camera this week, and will continue to do so for the next few weeks, as Kurt Brown takes pictures for a slide-tape presentation on the S. A. D. 44 Adult and Community Education Program. The presentation will be featured at the year-end pot-luck supper set for May 12, and will also be available for viewing by interested groups within the community.

Class-of-the-Week this week is the Issues and Images Film Series, which is held on Wednesday evenings at the Moses Mason House in Bethel. Each week features an excellent film, and a discussion led by a scholar. Discussion leaders have included Stanley Howe, Marvin Ouwinga, and Margaret Tibbetts from Bethel, and John and Nellie Hankins from Otisfield. The films are being presented through a grant from the Maine Commission on Humanities and Public Policy, and free to those attending. This program is an example of one way the S. A. D. 44 Adult and Community Education program is able to expand its variety of courses on a limited budget through cooperation with other agencies.

NEWS FROM MRS. BOUCHARD'S NURSERY SCHOOL

This week it was found that Danny Barker has a large bud on his marigold plant. The children are hoping it will blossom in time for Easter.

They have made tulips, salt box rabbits, egg heads, underwater scenes and stuffed rabbits for art projects.

Four year olds are finishing up number books and learning about their favorite food and identified other pictures about foods.

Everyone has done some measuring and made special puzzles to take home.

For snack times they made corn bread, stuffed celery, Rice Krispie balls, Jello, and whole wheat muffins.

A new little person was welcomed to the school this week. Her name is Sarah Cohen and she is 2½ years old.

West Greenwood —

—Carolyn M. Colby, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wilson of Bangor were blessed with a baby girl last week. Her name is Jennifer Rose. Gloria Wilson, Bethel, is the baby's grandmother and she is Irene Wilson's first great grandchild.

Callers at Irene's have been: Jeff Carll, Waterboro; Ruth Wilkinson, Vicki and Alan Wilson, Bethel, Vicki spent the week-end.

Early Friday morning a few rolls of thunder were heard toward the South and by mid-forenoon we had a blanket of heavy wet snow on the ground. Then came Sunday with temperatures that reached 88° on Irene's thermometer. Only the brown grass of the fields and lawns could belie the fact it wasn't June.

Leah Deegan spent the week end with Marion Soule at Palermo.

NINE RELAY TEAMS AND FOUR INDIVIDUALS COMPETE IN SUNDAY RIVER RACE

Nine relay teams and four individual racers celebrated the arrival of Spring in the Sunday River valley on Sunday afternoon as they competed in the Sunday River Run, XC and Alpine Ski Race. Bright sunshine and 70° temperatures put racers and spectators in a spring mood and helped to offset the confusion created when the racers got lost in the woods on the first leg of the course. As much energy was expended by volunteer searchers who took to the woods to round up stray racers as by the racers themselves. When the strange situation was finally resolved and all parties had arrived safely at the finish line, most everyone agreed that the event was indeed a display of April Foolishness and that everyone involved got plenty of exercise.

Winners of the various competition categories were Women's Relay—Linda James, Kim Riggins, Kara O'Donnell, and Kerri Riggins (Time 1:12:16); Men's Relay—Roger Smith, Eric Hastings and Robbie James (45:50); Mixed Relay—Wendy Frutsky, Les Otten, Dave Corliss, and Carole Corliss (1:8:52); Individual—John Howe (56:13).

Other good sports competing in the event were Individuals—John Gasser, Dick Hoisington and Alan Korhonen; Women's Team—Pat Hudson, Ann Moran, Barbara James and Barbara Gasser; Mixed Teams—Penny York, Marybeth Isham, Sarah Putnam and Scott Leon; Dave Marshall, Julie Stevens, Tim Hutchinson, and Doug Saxe; and Robert Segee, Joseph Russo, Mike Kallmes, and Susan Kallmes; and Men's Teams—Blaine MacKay, Eric Dombkowski, Andy Pease, and John Applin; and Jim and Larry Hudson.

AMN. GAUVIN IS GRADUATE OF AIRCRAFT MAINTENANCE SCHOOL IN TEXAS

Air Force Airman Michael C. Gauvin, son of Rose S. Gallant of 55 Spruce Street, Rumford, and Aurele Gauvin of Andover, has graduated from the U. S. Air Force aircraft maintenance training course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course were trained in aircraft maintenance, repair and service, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

—Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Doyen with their daughter, Mrs. Connie Hindman, and Mark, enjoyed dinner one day last week at the Northland in Berlin, N. H., to observe the birthdays of Jesse and Mark.

Mrs. Winona Verrill of South Paris was a recent visitor of the Doyens.

Mrs. Connie Hindman visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Awalt in Augusta over the week end. Mark spent the week end with his brother, Lee.

Brian Stowell was a Sunday dinner guest of Mrs. Buzzie Lapham and Timmie. In the afternoon Timmie went to the movies and bowling with his aunt, Mrs. Jerry Machia.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bancroft spent the week end with their daughter and family in Lisbon Falls. We are sorry to learn that Phyllis' mother, Mrs. Grace Morrill, is a patient at the C.M.M.C. in Lewiston.

Mrs. Ethel Bean and children, of Otisfield spent Sunday afternoon with me. Mrs. Ava Bessey of Rumford Corner was a caller Monday morning.

Mrs. Buzzie Lapham went to South Waterford Tuesday to see Mrs. Muriel Kimball. They went from there to Fryeburg and Conway to visit some of Muriel's family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kimball of Lewisberry, Pa., came Tuesday to spend a few days at their home here.

Tuesday—March 31. Much of the ice cleared from the pond today. Mr. and Mrs. Randy West of North Berwick are spending a couple of days with the Jack Parsons.

One shouldn't take snow tires off in this part of the country in March!

BASKETBALL NEWS
FROM THE ANDOVER
ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

On March 24 an awards banquet was held in the Andover Gym for the children who participated in the Andover Elementary School's basketball program. Parents of children brought casseroles, salads, rolls and dessert. Everyone had enough to eat and the food was excellent. Thanks were extended to the parents for their help that night and throughout the entire season.

After supper Certificates of Participation were handed out to the team members by Coach John Emery. Those receiving certificates were:

Fourth Graders: Grady Littlehale, Marsha Hutchins, Greg Simmons, Jason Missorochi, Patti Ann Jaros, Brenda Taylor, Lisa Jodrey, Wayne Wardwell and Richy Gilks.

Fifth Graders: Steve Learned, Richy Mixer, Danny Thurston, Jason Glover, Debbie Bodwell, D. J. Parker, Lori Milton, Sandy Morton, and Bobbi-Lyn Littlehale.

Sixth Graders: Heather Clark, Marcey Gilks, Scott Merchant and Linda Learned.

NOTES FROM
Evans Notch
White Mountain National Forest

Salvage of the blown down timber continues to be the major concern for the District timber marking crews. At present, the District has sold approximately 20 million board feet (MMBF), and the crews have an additional 10 MMBF marked for sale. This amount will be sold by the end of April. Additional volume to be offered through the summer and fall should bring the total salvaged volume to around 42 MMBF.

Fire training of District personnel was conducted this past week and equipment has been inspected and tested for rapid deployment should the need arise. On March 23, District personnel met with National Forest Wardens, Town Fire Chiefs, and personnel from the State of Maine to coordinate fire prevention and suppression activities.

People gathering firewood under our free permit system and woods operations are reminded to check the mufflers and spark arrestors on their saws and equipment. Forest Service regulations require these systems be operational. District personnel will be contacting people using chain saws and heavy equipment on the Evans Notch District to insure sparks are not being discharged. Prevention of forest fires is everyone's business, and we ask for your continued cooperation to keep your National Forest green.

Many of the hiking trails continue to be blocked or obliterated by blown down timber. Hikers are urged to contact us before setting out to enjoy the backcountry. To avoid inconvenience or backcountry hazards, we will be available to assist hikers in planning their trips on the damaged trail system. Providing for your safety and enjoyment of the District is our goal.

awarded, handsome looking trophies were passed out to the four sixth graders who had participated in the program for two or three years. Those receiving trophies were Heather Clark, Marcey Gilks, Scott Merchant and Linda Learned.

The final award of the night was presented to a sixth grader who had displayed a desire to compete and good sportsmanship throughout the season. This year's recipient was Linda Learned.

It was a fine night of festivities shared by team members and parents. Everyone is already looking to next season with the hopes of improving in each facet of the game.

East Stoneham —

—Gladys Kilgore, Corres. —

The Daughters of Veterans of Stoneham, Tent. 19, met Wednesday, March 25, with all officers present except Musician and Color Bearer #4.

A donation was made to the Heart Fund and to the Cancer Crusade.

Junior Vice President Mary Jones was installed into office by Helen Grover, who is the officer's grandmother and a 50 year member of the order.

Brother Stephen Taylor, a member of Joshua Chamberlain Camp, Sons of Union Veterans, was a guest and spoke of their program for Memorial.

Cards were sent from this meeting to Gladys Kilgore, Gertrude Barker, Joyce Bennett, Vesta Nelson, Pauline Lawrence and Russell Dudley.

A patriotic program is planned for the April meeting and members asked to bring items for a silent auction.

Louise Littlefield and Helen Grover served as hostesses for this meeting and served refreshments after closing.

Gertrude Barker was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital Friday of last week. Her husband has been staying with a daughter and family the Robert Lagueux at Norway while Gertrude is at the hospital.

Minerva Dudley returned to her home here for a few days and reports that Russell is showing progress at the hospital in Bridgton.

Grace and Eleanor Nelson visited Gladys Kilgore at Ledgeview Home on Wednesday and asked Sarah Grover to go along. Nice to see Gladys getting about with her walker. Her arm still gives her trouble. Hopefully it will keep improving.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Inez Farrington, a resident here until her health required the care of a nursing home.

Mary Grover and Phyllis Millett attended a meeting for the Stephens Memorial Hospital Auxiliary at Norway.

The "work shop" for the local church circle met at Mertice Barker's Thursday, with a smaller than usual attendance. The material for decorations and favors at the upcoming Mother-Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Beedy of Turner called on Mrs. Zilla Silver Sunday. Later that afternoon she called on Mrs. Flossie Twitchell before returning home. Flossie is her aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews and mother, Mrs. Lillian Harmon, called at Olive Davis' abode and had dinner with her on Sunday.

I called on Lizzie Russ at Ledgeview one day this week. She was O. K. and busy as always.

This week has been a bit warmer so the sap has started running again.

I have a dozen or so of tomato plants planted. I'm getting ready to make hot dog relish early this year with a little luck with the plants this spring.

We have news from Fairbanks, Alaska this week. Mr. and Mrs. Berry Holmes (nee Vickie Hall), are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Amanda Lynn, March 17. The grandparents are Beryl and Wendell Hall.

A snow storm hit us on Friday morning with two to three inches covering the ground. It really was hard telling as it melted some and packed down. Perhaps this will be the last one of the season. No promise but speculation.

The Bookmobile is scheduled to be in town Tuesday, April 17, from 2:20 to 3:20 at the Ekco parking lot.

No Adult Bible Study will be held tonight (Thursday) as Rev. Wuori is attending a drinking and driving seminar with other Bethel and Dixfield C.A.D.E.T.S. at Squaw Mountain in Greenville, Wednesday through Friday. The Youth Group will meet as usual at 7 p. m. at the Sunday School room.

Easter week will feature a Maundy Thursday service on April 16, with an ecumenical service at the Union Church with Rev. Douglass and Carlene Trotter. Members of the Congregational Church, West Paris, will join in the service of Tenebrae (darkness) with Holy Communion. The service will be preceded by a common meal sponsored by the church fellowship at 6 p. m. All those planning to attend should bring a food to be shared, plates and silverware for each member attending, so everyone may attend the service at 7:30. Members of the Andover Congregational Church are also invited. Program committee is Kathy Bartlett and Margaret Ring. The supper committee is Margery Swan, Sandra Swan and Carmen Bartlett.

The Youth Group of Locke Mills and Andover will join in a retreat at Rockcraft Lodge, East Sebago, April 20-22. Members have worked hard to raise money to help pay expenses. This year's retreat will feature learning about vocations—our calling as Christians in the world and our vocation in terms of what we do for work. Jane Rich of Andover, Phyllis Coolidge and Nancy Morey will serve as leaders along with Rev. Wuori. Dave Walton met with these leaders on March 30 to help plan the retreat and his help is appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cole went to visit her mother, Mrs. Blanche Bennett, and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ring, in Freeport last Saturday.

Leslie Mason of Portland spent the week end visiting his aunt, Dora Ford, and calling on friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeNormandie, Norwood, Mass., spent the week end at their home in Greenwood Center.

Mrs. Vera Cross is taking a week's vacation from her employment at Ekco Housewares.

Joe Dubej has returned home after spending the winter at Andrews Nursing Home, South Paris. He was hospitalized with double pneumonia before entering the nursing home.

Gary Dunham is having a vacation from Bowdoin College and spent Wednesday with his grandmother, Mrs. Rowena Dunham.

Callers at Mr. and Mrs. John Mills' this week have been Rev. David Wuori, Leslie Mason and Geraldine Shimamura.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Morgan were recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cole.

Mrs. Lee Mills and Blaine Mills were in Portland recently and enjoyed a visit with cousins, Bertha Dee and Vivian Daley.

The Cub Scouts held their Pack Meeting last Friday at the Legion Home. The theme was genius night and the 10 Cubs brought their creations made from their genius kits. They were judged in four categories: best workmanship, most useful, most original and most unusual. Judges were Charles Melville, Hugh and Denise Swan. Each boy won an award and also received an award which was inscribed "Certified Genius, Pack 540", made by Bob Curtis. Awards for the month were Bobcat Badge to Jeremiah Bolen; Artist and Athlete Badge to Kyle Curtis, Benjamin Bolen, Travis Buck and Aaron Crockett. The theme for April will be "The World Around Us".

BANCROFT RECEIVES AWARD

Holly Bancroft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bancroft of Paris Hill, received a $100 award from the Maine Alpine Racing Association (MARA) at a dinner recently held at Sugarloaf, USA. She was honored as the most improved Maine skier in Eastern Ski Association Racing. These races were held all over Maine and Holly improved each week, ending the season with a third place finish at Sugarloaf, first place at Saddleback Mountain, and winning the Met Jodrey Trophy at Sunday River. She was selected by MARA to be the Maine team that competed at the Eastern Championships held on Whitefield Mountain in Lake Placid, scene of the 1980 Olympics.

Holly is a Junior and enjoying her first year at Gould Academy.

MIDDLE SCHOOL BAND CONCERT SET—The Telstar Middle School Band will present a concert on Thursday, April 9, at 7 p. m. in the Telstar Auditorium. The band will present a variety of music from an unusual version of "Grandfather's Clock" to Haydn's "Surprise Symphony".

HISTORICAL SOCIETIES PLAN TO AID BUILDING SURVEY

Representatives of twelve of the county's historical societies, met recently at the Moses Mason House to discuss with George Allen, Project Director of the Oxford County Building Survey, the ways they can continue the work of the survey through their own organizations. Federal funds for the survey were recently cut off, and an attempt is being made to finish the survey entirely with local resources, so that the final result, a book on the county's architecture, can eventually be compiled and published.

Working primarily by completing survey worksheets on their town's old buildings, and by taking photographs, the Canton, West Paris and Buckfield representatives indicated they will be able to do the bulk of their survey work over the next year. Representatives of the Hartford Historical Society and the Paris Cape Historical Society noted that volunteers from their home towns are presently working on the survey and pledges to follow through with the completed forms and photos to accompany them. Representatives of the Dixfield Historical Society, who have been working with Allen recently to map the town's old buildings, noted they are almost through with the photographing, but that doing the street survey of individual houses will take much longer to accomplish. Documenting Rumford will be more of a problem, said Stuart Martin of the Greater Rumford Historical Society, because of the large number of buildings involved, but he thinks several individuals might be found to work on the survey. Waterford's representatives noted that they had begun one survey there last year, and will finish it including photos this year. Newry's representative, Helen Morton, said she thinks the town history to be published soon will provide the bulk of the information necessary to the survey. She also noted that a map of the town's buildings was prepared for last summer's town anniversary, and should be of help to the survey. Hebron's representatives noted they are making strides with their work on the survey, and that only a few more volunteers are needed to finish up; they will work on doing that this year. Greenwood's president, Steve Seames, said he felt that last year's work would be taken up again this spring, and that the survey there could be finished photos included this year. Bethel, which has provided office space for the director of the survey, pledged itself to completion of the project in their town.

Allan noted that Sandra Brown, who is interested in the history of Stoneham, has offered to continue work for the survey there; Herbert Adams has offered to take photographs of Stoneham buildings this summer. He also noted that the Lovell Historical Society will soon be photographing the buildings of their town and said that the survey has begun in Fryeburg, where approximately a dozen people are at work on survey worksheets at the present time. Allen will be teaching a Tuesday afternoon course on Architectural Styles at the Fryeburg library beginning Tuesday, April 7.

Allen will be speaking about the survey to the Denmark Extension in the Denmark Church on April 2, to the Universalist Church Women in Norway on April 8, and will be giving slide-worksheets in

The Drapeau family lives on 35 acres of wooded land in Brunswick in a house that Mr. Drapeau built in 1952.

Over the years Mr. Drapeau has built additions to the house and made improvements to the property. The value of the house has multiplied, and the land includes two apple orchards, a trout pond, extensive landscaping and planting and an abundance of wildlife.

Many of us would like to live in a similar setting, but all is not as peaceful as it may seem for the Drapeaus. The family's property lies at the north end of the Brunswick Naval Air Station, in an area the Navy refers to as a "clear zone." If the Navy has its way, the Drapeau family will be forced to give up their land and their home.

The Clear Zone is an area extending laterally 750 feet from both sides of the air station's runway, with a fan-shaped area extending 3,000 feet beyond the end of the runway. In a policy enacted by the Navy, clear zones at Naval Air stations nationwide would be obtained by the Navy and cleared of structures posing a hazard to safe aircraft take-off and landing situations. The policy also seeks to reduce the risk of injury or loss of property in the clear zones because of a flight hazard.

In 1977, the Navy made it known through public hearings in Brunswick that it intended to purchase the off-base land in the clear zone, including the Drapeau property. The estimated price tag was $2.2 million. An alternative plan was rejected in which an extension of the runway to the south would be constructed, creating a clear zone to the north on property already owned by the Navy. The price tag here was $34.4 million.

In all, 19 parcels of land will be

by Bob Bergeron

L. D. 948 the "Silviculture Act", proposes that owners of more than 1,000 acres of forest land register with the state their plans for the future use of that land. This proposal brought on an open confrontation on the subject of state control of private property. Opponents of the act contend that such control is not compatible with the traditions and practices of this country. Proponents argue that no control is provided in the bill; all that is sought is information that the state needs to protect "its interest" in a resource. This bill is definitely a step in the direction of those who do not trust private ownership of land. Those who hold to this view must ignore the excellent stewardship exercised for more than a century and a half over the forest lands of this state. The bill is given little chance of passage.

Watch out where you do your drinking! When the criminal code was revised a few years ago, the act of drinking in public was reduced to a misdemeanor, an offense for which you can't be arrested. Recent problems involving crowds and drinking have prompted several bills that will either make public drinking once again an arrestable offense or give Towns and Cities the authority to enact their own ordinances dealing with the problem. There will be some action on this problem.

In late January of this year the Maine Legislature enacted, without a public hearing, an emergency measure requiring petroleum suppliers to give a year's notice of intent to stop doing business in the state. The original act was for two months only, on the premise that a follow-on bill would receive a hearing and debate. The bill, endorsed by the Governor, has now been heard. Subsequently, Senator Samuel Collins, R-Rockland, Senate Majority Leader announced that he was opposed to extending the control. Senator Collins pointed out that the bill could deter suppliers from entering the Maine market. He went on to observe that the Federal regulations require six months notice of discontinuance of gasoline and diesel fuels. Home heating oils have been decontrolled for almost five years and no difficulties have arisen in this respect. In light of this opposition, the bill will not pass.

HALE EXHIBITS ART WORK

Martha Hale, a senior at Gould Academy, was one of eight Gould students selected to exhibit prints in a New England competition sponsored by the Portland School of Art. Some 500 students entered the competition and from the more than 600 prints submitted the panel of judges selected 120 to be exhibited to final judging. These 120 prints were selected on the basis of creativity, execution, design and color.

Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hale, West Bethel, and is spending her fourth year at Gould. During this time she has been active in field hockey, basketball, softball, honor roll, and student council as well as having the opportunity to take courses in Gould's extensive art program which includes pottery, design, glass blowing, jewelry making, black/white and color photography, and printmaking.

EAST BETHEL

— Mrs. David Foster, Corres. —

On Feb. 20 we left Long Beach, Calif., for San Francisco to attend the celebration of the Chinese New Year. We stayed in the Sutter Hotel which is just a couple of blocks from Chinatown. On the way up we went through Los Lobos which has many oil wells and refineries. Nearly all the way there were many, many vineyards. At this time of year they are pruned drastically and I couldn't see any green on them. It seems a miracle to me that such vines could produce so many grapes in such a few months. But they do. We also went through Salinas which with the surrounding valley is known as the Salad Bowl of America because they raise so much lettuce, spinach, swiss chard, broccoli etc.

Saturday, Feb. 21, we had a free day so we visited Chinatown where I bought some things for Christmas or birthdays. After wandering around for a couple of hours, we began to get hungry so we inquired where we could catch the cable cars. We took the cable cars to Fisherman's Wharf where we had lunch. Then we wandered around there for an hour or so and took the cable cars back to near the hotel.

At 7 p.m. Gwen and I took our cameras and went down to the street. We were on the 8th floor and our windows were on a side street so we couldn't watch the Chinese New Year Parade from there. There were mounted police, several bands, as well as floats with Miss Chinatown and her retinue on one. Some had dragons on them. Then many men and children had dragon heads on. There were also long dragons-head, body tail etc., carried by several men wriggling along the street. A couple of them had eyes of fire which I tried to get on film. As they were dancing around so, I failed.

Sunday we went over the Golden Gate Bridge to Sausalito which is supposed to be a lovely Art Colony. As we were only allowed an hour to browse around we didn't get to see much. Then we visited Exposition Park near there but as the bus was allowed only 25 minutes to be there we didn't get much chance to wander through it. Then the bus took us to Fisherman's Wharf for lunch. Gwen and I went to a Co-Op store to get a few things. I suggested to Gwen that we take a different way back to the bus—hoping it would be shorter. As usual I was all wet and we ended up at Pier 33 instead of Pier 43 so had to walk a half mile to Pier 43 just missing our bus. We took the Cable Cars back to the hotel.

Monday we left early for Long Beach stopping at a Carnation Restaurant for breakfast. There Gwen got a good picture of a red-winged blackbird—quite a rarity out here, I guess, as many of the people on the bus wondered what they were. On the way back

These places were all green with the growing greens.

We stopped in Solvang—a very pretty Danish Village—for lunch. Also we could buy the many scrumptious Danish pastries and candies. Both Gwen and I were tempted but had enough will power to resist buying things to snack on. But I groaned mentally for miles—just thinking about all that lovely food.

From Solvang to Salinas were many cattle, horse and sheep ranches with hundreds of animals roaming the green pastures. We arrived at the Sutter Hotel after 8 p.m. because we had to detour in East San Francisco due to an accident on the freeway.

CONGREGATIONAL YOUTH PRESENTING MUSICAL SUNDAY, APRIL 5

The youth of the West Parish Congregational Church will present the musical "It's Cool in the Furnace" on Sunday, April 5, at 10:30 a.m. This play about four Hebrew boys brought to Babylon by King Nebuchadnezzar is full of lively music and humorous dialogue. Through this modern format, the message of this Biblical story clearly comes across to all ages. Everyone will remember Daniel and his friends, Shadrach, Meshack and Abednego not to mention the quick tempered King Nebuchadnezzar.

All members of the church and community are invited to attend. Families and young people are especially encouraged to come and share in this different type of service. A pot luck dinner will follow the service. All are invited to stay for dinner. Please bring a casserole or salad.

We passed many orchards of almonds and peaches all in bloom—most of them so white with blossoms that no green leaves or brown limbs could be seen. Just below Fresno we passed the Sun-Maid Ranch which is the home of the Sun-Maid Raisins. We had lunch at a restaurant near the beginning of the Grapevine Road which curves, twists, rises and falls for miles through the mountains. I never did find out why it was called the Grapevine Road and never found out the names of the mountains either. I did forget to say that when we left San Francisco we went over the Oakland Bay Bridge which is eight miles or more long. It has two levels. The top level going east, the lower level going west so we didn't get into merging-traffic until we were well over the bridge. We got home about 6:30 p.m. after a lovely but tiring trip.

On March 13 our niece and her husband picked us up and took us to Ansa to see their new modular home. We sat in back of the pickup with their black Labrador dog, Sam. We couldn't see anything as it was all closed in as they had used it as a camper. Ansa is about 100 miles from here—northeast I should say. After a two-hour drive we arrived in Ansa and took a bumpy dirt road to their house. They had taken off part of the hill to make a level place for their home to which they hope to retire in seven or eight years. It was a beautiful view over the valley as well as to the mountains. Ansa itself is 4300 ft. above sea level. On our niece's land there are many manzanita trees and greasewood. They have planted several fruit and nut trees around with Arizona pine trees lining the road to the house. They have also planted twisted junipers along the front of the house. I helped them plant 10 cuttings one day. I wandered all over their five acres and up a big hill west of their house as we had good weather all the week end. On the way back I sat in front with Jim so I could see the country on the way. I have never seen such boulders in all my life. One house had 4-5 huge boulders—20 ft. or more high towering over it. There were boulders all over the fields and pastures until we got down out of the mountains. Then there were rich green pastures and beautiful citrus orchards. Just after leaving the "Seabourn Bonanza Ranch" so called we saw a coyote cross the road. We had heard many of them in the National Park just back of the house. Jim took a shot at one quite a while ago so they retaliated by coming down during the week and chewing up one of the plastic hoses he used for irrigating his trees. They plan to have an apple orchard there when they retire. We arrived home Sunday night about 7 p.m. after a nice but tiring week end.

Oh, in all my wanderings over Ansa I never saw or heard a rattlesnake even though I had to press my way down the hill through greasewood.

M. S. A. D. #44 Superintendent's Newsletter

Dr. Wayne F. Gersen

April 1, 1981

S. A. D. #44 offers many good educational programs, but the most outstanding program offered in our District is Adult and Community Education. Initiated by Marie Wilson over five years ago, and expanded under the leadership of Cathy Newell during the past two years, S. A. D. #44's Adult and Community Education program offers high school diploma courses, teacher recertification courses, vocational training courses, and general enrichment courses, to over 600 adult students per year.

Two weeks ago, an Adult Education program review team, comprised of S. A. D. #44 community members, School Board members, adult educators from across the state, and two state department consultants, conducted an on-site evaluation of our Adult Education program. In the summary report, which will be issued to the Board of Directors of S. A. D. #44 on Monday night, the review team was expansive in its praise. Among the commendations were:

—The review committee wishes to commend Cathy Newell for her organizational leadership, maintenance of good records, concern for people, and for making the review team's work easier by being well prepared for the review.

—The Adult and Community Education director works closely with several model community agencies: i.e., the Historical Society, Extension, Humanities, public libraries, Androscoggin Valley Regional Planning Commission, NOVA, Literacy Volunteers, Oxford County Gem and Mineral Club, the Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Service, Office of Energy Resources, M. S. A. D. #44, Tri-County Mental Health, Title I, University of Maine at Augusta and Farmington.

—A realistic and practical fee structure for registration has been explored and developed. Relaxed registration procedures that save individuals travel time and expenses and ample time for registration by phone have been implemented.

—The program delivery of classes is located at several sites through the community: fire station, homes in Andover, churches, banks, libraries, and Gould Academy.

—Use of registration fees to support the total school project is in place and helps both the Adult and Community Education students and K-12 students in the community; for example, the purchasing of welding equipment, upgrading the wiring for shops, and purchasing tools for classes.

—The program meets the needs of the local community by offering a wide variety of classes and provides the opportunity for new courses upon request by the citizens.

—The instruction in all classes

Center. His commitment to family practice and dedication to his patients have had a positive impact on the community and the stability of the Center.

Dr. Kraus and his wife, Helen, will be relocating in early August in Atlanta, Ga., where Dr. Kraus will be joining a health maintenance organization. He and Mrs. Kraus will be deeply missed by those in the community who have come to know them.

The staff is particularly sensitive to the concerns of those patients who have been followed by Dr. Kraus. Every effort will be made to assure the smooth transfer of care. It is especially important, during this period of transition, for everyone to be aware that individual patient records will remain at the Center, that Gerald O'Connor, Physician Assistant, will provide continuing care of BAHG patients, and that there will be no interruption of the health services by the Center.

WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP OF WEST PARISH CHURCH

The Women's Fellowship of the West Parish Congregational Church met in Garland Chapel, Wednesday morning, March 25, with Miss Mary Valentine as hostess. She also led the devotions.

The program was presented by Father Donald R. Proulx from Our Lady of the Snows Church in Bethel. Last fall he went on tour for three weeks of the Holy Land, visiting sites where Judaism, Christianity, the Hebrew and Muslim religions had their beginnings. Accompanied by a most interesting commentary, many beautiful slides were shown of Jerusalem, its temples and walls, Sea of Galilee, the Dead Sea, River Jordan, birthplace of Jesus in Bethlehem, Nazareth, Cana, Hebron, ancient tombs and mosques, Mount of Olives, Mt. Zion, and up to the modern cities of Akre, Haifa and Tel Aviv, and the Mediterranean Sea. About 35 ladies of the community were renewed and inspired. Delicious refreshments were served by Mary Lyons, Betty Tebbets and Helen Morton.

was found to be adult oriented, the teachers were well prepared for their class assignments, and students and faculty were supportive and enthusiastic about Adult and Community Education.

At the exit interview, the committee chairman indicated that he came to Bethel knowing that S. A. D. #44 had a strong Adult Education program, and that he left feeling that he had seen one of the best programs in the state.

The schools in our District are open to all, and the programs for adult learners have been designed to meet the needs of the students. The continued success of our Adult and Community Education program depends upon your continued support and enrollment in our Adult and Community Education program.

While writing this I am listening to the terrible news that our President is shot and in surgery. This news not only shocks the whole nation but once again makes us realize how vulnerable our Presidents really are. It has started raining to give an even more somber gloom to this day.

Friday we had snow start about 6 A. M. Just about the time so many people were headed for work. It brought the snowplows out. Then Sunday many people took advantage of the lovely spring weather to rake and clean up some of the debris left over from our strong winds this last winter.

Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Shaw have a beagle puppy. They had a family supper and get-together Saturday. Mrs. Eva Keniston, Mrs. Elsie Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keniston, Mr. and Mrs. David Keniston and two children, and Peter Keniston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy had their son, Dean, and family of Sebago for week end guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Gibbs took advantage of the good weather to paint the ceilings in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Brown, as of Friday, have both retired.

March 21, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rotoff of Lewiston, and Andy Benson, who was on vacation from UMO came for breakfast at Mr. and Mrs. Stan Brown's.

Mrs. Victor Coolidge and baby, Vicky, came home from Stephens Memorial Hospital Thursday. Visitors since arriving home have been: Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coolidge and daughter, Dick and Sue Angevine, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Coolidge and Evelyn Hilborn.

Sunday callers were Mr. and Mrs. John Angevine and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, Kristy and Timmy, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Blake and Beth, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine, who stayed for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert's son, Randy, had to take his wife back to a Lewiston hospital on Thursday.

Bob Stearns celebrated his birthday this week end with Joyce, Debbie and children. Dawn Seames made Grampa's birthday cake by herself with Mama coaching.

Randy Wilson came Friday to visit Andy Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, and went home Saturday. Other visitors of Smiths were Bruce Smith and boys of South Paris, Doug Smith and Dee-dee Grenier.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura, and Jody, helped celebrate their grandson's first birthday Sunday. Those there were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Shimamura and Justin; Jack Van Deursen, Cindy Leary and Jolene Andre. Gerry made a cake and ice cream was also served. Justin will be one April 1.

Saturday afternoon Macki Chapman and Pat Anderson went cross country skiing in Grafton Notch. Eric Anderson spent the time with Great Aunt Elizabeth Morse. When Aunt Elizabeth brought Eric home she stayed for supper.

Ernest Angevine's sister, Agnes Deblots and husband, Orial, of Shelburne, N. H., were evening guests last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine and family had for Sunday dinner their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine, and Dick's uncle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Angevine, of New Hampshire.

Lawrence Butters and wife of Stowe were Saturday evening guests of his cousin and wife, Lester and Ruth Butters. Lawrence and son came to our camp a couple of times while we were up moose hunting as they also had a moose license.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden MacDougall took their daughter, Lea, back to UMO Sunday.

Tom Gibbs' grandmother of Blue Hill, has been visiting her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gibbs, and Tom and family, were Sunday dinner guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gardner, Sabatius, one day last week. Although Frank is not completely back he can say there is a big improvement. Sunday noon Mr. and Mrs. Davis Kimball, Anita and Chan-

GOULD STUDENTS EXHIBIT PRINTS

The Portland School of Art sponsored a Young Printmakers' of New England competition for students in the New England High Schools. Some 500 students entered the competition and from the more than 600 prints submitted the panel of jurors selected 120 to be exhibited for final judging. These 120 prints were selected on the basis of creativity, execution, design and color, and overall impact.

Fifteen Gould Academy students entered the competition and eight were selected for the exhibit which is located in the Calderwood Building, Portland School of Art, Pleasant Street, Portland.

Those chosen as finalists are Michael Dawson, Durham, N. H.; Jennifer Loud, Lake Placid, N. Y.; Mark Hall, Hingham, Mass.; Pamela Murray, Hudson, Quebec; Martha Hale, West Bethel; Jennifer Bigelow, Manchester, N. H.; Crowell Baker, Cedarhurst, N. Y.; and David Flautt, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Gould has an extensive art program that includes classes in pottery, design, glassblowing, jewelry making, black/white and color photography, and printmaking. The facilities have been extensively renovated and expanded, including the James B. Owen Art Gallery which displays visiting artists' work as well as student art. The Gallery is open to the public daily.

tel, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Benson, Poland, were dinner guests and Frank Chapman and grandson, Vince, were afternoon visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gibbs and girls were in Gorham and Berlin, N. H., shopping last week end.

Jody Shimamura was one of the Telstar students who competed in Maine Jazz Festival at Nakomis High School in Newport. Telstar, although they didn't place made a good showing because most of the schools they competed against were much larger. I hope I understand right but I understand they had to play with the high schools with 400 and over as Telstar has an enrollment just over the 400 mark.

Friday, Linda Gibbs took her baby to a Norway hospital as it had an ear infection.

Heidi Glines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Glines, has been visiting her parents from her school in Boston, Mass. Roland's aunt, Mrs. Virginia MacLaughlin, of Bucksport is spending a week at the Glines'. Mr. and Mrs. Berl MacLaughlin brought his mother down for the visit.

Mrs. Jessie Gilmour and daughter, Jean, of Rumford, were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lapham. Friday, Mr. Lapham spent the day at the Sugar Orchard on Grover Hill with the Masons and Blakes.

Our son, Wilfred, called from Okinawa this morning so once again we have heard from all the boys since Saturday. Saturday morning Jim called up from North Andover, Mass., and Ira from El Toro, Calif. Frankie came and visited Saturday.

Saturday, Elaine, Shilo and Misty Hutchins enjoyed supper at the Only Place Restaurant.

Sunday visitors of the Hutchins family were Louise Kimball and Eneida Pickering of Meredith, N. H.

Elaine and Misty Hutchins visited Lynn Hutchins and Katie in North Windham on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hutchins entertained for supper Saturday, March 21, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hannon, Mike Lynch, Ann Holt, also Rhonda Parker and Bob Litchenstein of South Portland.

Jeff, Elaine, Shilo and Misty Hutchins enjoyed a birthday celebration for Jeff, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hutchins on Monday, March 23.

Blessed are they who understand My faltering step and shaking hand.

Blessed are they who know my ears today Must strain to catch the things they say.

Blessed are they who looked away When coffee spilled at table today.

Blessed are they with cheery smile Who stop to chat for a little while.

Blessed are they who never say, "You've told that story twice today."

Blessed are they that make it known That I'm loved, respected and not alone.

"HOW SHOULD WE THEN LIVE" FILM SERIES AT BETHEL GOSPEL CENTER

"How Should We Then Live" film series begins Sunday evening, April 5, with episode one, "The Roman Age", at 6 p. m. at the Bethel Gospel Center, located on Route 26 in Bethel.

Time Magazine called Francis Schaeffer missionary to the intellectuals. Hundreds of college students, curiosity seekers, drifters, and spiritually hungry nomads of all nationalities and ages have sought him out in his home in the Swiss Alps. There he has developed a reputation for his ability to communicate ideas and principles to men and women from all walks of life. In the L'Abri communities and study centers in Europe, he and his staff have exposed these many individuals to Biblical Christianity, trying to meet every honest question with an honest answer.

From Harvard to the local church, in Europe, North America, and the Far East, he has raised the spectre of the potentially destructive direction of our society. As a voice in the wilderness, for years he has preached that Biblical Christianity is not only true, but intellectually defensible and reasonable. He has warned that our commonly accepted human freedoms, often taken for granted in the West, are in great danger of disappearing. But, unlike most doomsayers he offers positive alternatives for the future.

Francis Schaeffer has written a number of books including "The God Who Is There," "True Spirituality" and "Escape From Reason." These have been widely read and studied in over 15 different languages. The sales of his books have exceeded one million in the U. S. alone.

CRAFT SHOP PLANS SUMMER OPENING IN HANOVER

—Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.—

Work is progressing on the new craft and gift shop in Hanover. The shop will be called The Calico Craft and Gift Shop and is located on Route 2. The shop will feature crafts made by area people and put in on consignment. A line of greeting cards and gift wrapping from The Red Farm Studio in Rhode Island will also be available.

Freeman and Barbara Ellingwood, owners of the shop, hope to be open the first part of July. They would like to hear from all interested people in the area to know what they have to offer, so they could provide the proper display of merchandise. They are interested in a variety of crafts. A glassed in case will be provided for those wishing to put in jewelry and small leather items.

At a later date, Freeman hopes to have some doll houses on display and will take orders for them later on. A line of miniature furnishings will be added at that time. The Ellingwoods may be reached at 364-7083 or stop in and see them for further details.

Arlene Greenleaf, Florence Merrill and Rita Sweetser went to Ledgeview nursing home Wednesday night to help test more First Aiders for the new Tri Town Ambulance Service.

Safety Tip of the Week

This warm weather makes one want to start spring cleaning. If you have small children be sure your cleaning equipment is out of reach. Those pretty decorated bottles look inviting to a child. Their contents may be deadly so please beware and keep them where little hands can't reach.

Upton

—Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.—

Twenty voters and one guest attended the annual town meeting. Most of the business was done in a friendly business like manner and was finished in slightly over two hours. Out-going officials were re-elected, suggested appropriations were explained and some discussion concerning a truck and plow found available by the selectmen resulted in a vote to purchase same. The old truck will be put up for bids.

The town voted not to maintain the picnic area, nor fund social services at the county level. The appropriation for mental health services was defeated. A round of applause was given the caretaker of the sanitary landfill for an excellent job.

Norma Aaron and Linda Blais are working in the superintendents office in Bethel in clerical positions as part of their studies at Telstar.

Laurie and Joseph Bergeron visited her mother Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Bernier are announcing the marriage of their daughter AIC Kathleen Coral to Sgt. Richard Willford of Dayton, Ohio. They were married March 20 in Grand Forks, N. D. AFB by Judge Kosanda. Kathy wore a white street length dress trimmed with red print. Their attendants were Sgts. Ron and Marge Hull, AIC Jim Balsburgh. AIC Steve George was a witness and the photographer.

Sunday River

— Jeannine Fleet, Corres. —

David Daye is in Florida visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Daye.

Mary Morin was in Gorham, N. H., on business Saturday.

Berta Smith spent Friday night with Tammy and Penny Fleet.

I called on Julia at Ledgeview and found her feeling good.

Mary Morin, Brad Harrington and Berta Smith had supper with the Fleets Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Verrill are at their cottage doing some sapping.

— Sent in by Eva Yates: —

A dark cloud Tuesday — sun still on strike but we saw our first pair of robins this morning—they look good—the crows sound good and it won't be long before we will hear those beautiful sounds of the frogs. I love to hear them but not the buzz of the mosquitoes that come next. It is 50 degrees here the last day of March. We warmed up the Go-Shoes and took a quick trip to Lewiston yesterday (Monday) to see the foot doctor.

I have been hobbling around on a sore foot while Joe has been entertaining burrits in his left arm and shoulder the past week or more. No fun but we are not in the hospital like our President. I did not believe one would take a shot at him this early but I was surprised no one took a pot shot at Carter.

Our new storm of last Friday morning spoiled some of our plans but was a blessing in other ways. I did not have to upset the daily plans of my neighbors that day.

Sunday dinner guests at Joe and Eva Yates were her granddaughter, Wynona Woolf and husband of Auburn. After dinner she gave us some music, which we enjoyed. She plays the piano and sings lovely. She doesn't play these new "no sense" tunes she plays more of the old nice songs.

Joe and Eva were in Rumford, March 24, and had dinner at Goodwin's.

Remember Bear River Grangers are invited to visit Rumford Grange, April 4.

The B. H. Yates and the Jack Denbisses are busy, busy at the syrup making business.

Robert Bates entered the Rumford hospital Monday for tests.

STATE OF MAINE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES District 63

Karen L. Brown, Representative

March 28, 1981

Governor Brennan has presented to the Legislature the Department of Transportation's budget for the biennium. The total highway Allocation Act is for $183 million. (This amount is 95% of this current year's budget for highway programs.)

The controversy comes when the expected revenue for the two-year period from license fees, gas tax etc. produce $142.6 million. This leaves a projected budget shortfall for the D. O. T. of $40.4 million.

In response to this crisis, a special task force committee was named to explore all alternatives for the D. O. T. budget. The committee was made up from three Joint Standing Legislative Committees and will have 14 members. The House and Senate chairmen from the Appropriations, Transportation and Taxation Committees and five other members from the House will serve on the Task Force. I was appointed to this special Task Force Committee by the Senate President, Joe Sewall.

The committee will carefully review the Highway Allocation Act. The current financial situation with the General Fund, and the taxes that are used to pay for the support of these. After careful consideration and exploring all alternatives we are to report back to the Legislature with our recommendations.

The challenge is that we only have two to three weeks to accomplish this and the work must be done evenings and week ends. All members of this Task Force serve on other legislative committees, have constituent work and legislation that they are working on. I am looking forward to this new committee assignment and expect I will learn a great deal in detail about the D. O. T. and financing of the General Fund.

TERRY WILSON, PROP.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Early one morning, I heard clucks and whistles then konk-ker-ee and okalee. Red wing had arrived. He stayed for a while then vanished. But he'll be back in his bright nuptial dress and full of vigor and song, waiting for the females to appear.

At some distance down the main road, on the same day, I entered the woods just before I came to the entrance to the trail to the Diamond Ledge. I then turned right to hit the trail and hiked to the first large ledge. Here I turned left but kept to the higher ground.

After crossing a brook I noticed another ledge still higher up the hill, covered with icicles, so I went that way.

I noticed a small rock, black in color and odd in shape. So I stopped to pick it up and investigate. It was nestled in moss. I turned it over and had a surprise. There were eight of the tiniest ants that I had ever seen. There was no motion at first, but I held them toward the sun, one moved arthritically, then another. I then replaced the rock in the exact place from which I had taken it. The story of ants is fantastic and they are probably the most abundant of insects.

'Up by the ledges the scene was winter. I was interested here, too. In a cave-like structure there was a build up of ice, a stalagmite, which met a hanging icicle, a stalactite. The two together formed an hour glass. A shape like this is not common.

I could now look down on an alder-patched table in the valley. An animal trail cut its way over the slopes, rippling up and down, like a whip cracking in the air. Part of the time I followed it then again I didn't.

I sat on a rock near the brow of a side hill and viewed the panorama of mountains, the valley, and the sky. Below me lay a few cottages and the pond nestled like a gem in its setting or like a bird on its nest. Beyond rose the hill, the slopes darkened and blued by distance, and toned and darkened here and there by drifting shadows. Above all, arched the blue dome with its fleecy clouds.

Warmth and peace brooded gently over everything.

From a distance came the "Caw" of a crow. It is a very clever bird. Each is a character. There is more difference in crows than appears, as they fly over. Henry Ward Beecher once remarked that if men wore feathers and wings a very few of them would be clever enough to be crows.

When I again reached a small field I saw several tussocks like large mushrooms with grassy heads, but not solid under foot. From here I took the road toward home. Everywhere there were constant reminders of what the earth is doing as it prepares for warmer days.

Brenda Mason and Frank and Dorothy Curtis were our callers this week.

Carpenters are busy adding a porch to the Vernon Inman camp. Fay Holt visited Eldith Lang in West Paris on Thursday.

Doris Hayes met her sisters in Gray on Friday morning and they drove to Portsmouth, N. H., to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Terry Spies. She stayed for the night with her son, Glenn, in Gray and returned home on Saturday morning.

Duane Hayes and family were supper guests at the Hayes Homestead on Tuesday.

On Saturday, Glenn Hayes and family of Gray, and Ardell and Betty Hayes, Auburn, spent the day with Doris Hayes.

Erwin and Doris Hayes have moved from Hyde Park, N. Y., to Danbury, Conn.

North Paris

— Evelline Barrett, Corres. —

This Sunday after one heavy snowstorm Friday, is one of the best. Temp. 76° and shirt sleeves, bicycles and motor cycles were in style. Everyone was outside enjoying themselves. Some played baseball.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Ilsley and Robert spent the week end in Amesbury, Mass., with relatives.

Harlan Abbott and Joseph Vatcher, members of Mollycoddett Sportsman's Club, helped out in the kitchen at the fried clam supper at West Paris, March 27. Over 200 were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Lawrence went to Lewiston Friday as Doris had appointments with Dr. Wolfe and Dr. Sokol.

George Sweeney is unemployed right now so he is getting acquainted with his power saw, and trimming the bushes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Richards, Massachusetts, Harlan Abbott, Root and Doris Lawrence, Sharon Scherf were callers at Vatcher's.

Stanley Herrick is working for Charlie Coffin.

Evelline Barrett was at Dr. Martin's, Monday.

"SUNBUILDERS" WORKSHOP

AT TELSTAR, APRIL 11

The Maine Office of Energy Resources and Homebuilders Association of Maine have announced that a "Sunbuilders" Workshop, co-sponsored by the two organizations, will be held at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel on Saturday, April 11, from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

"The purpose of the 'Sunbuilders' workshop is to acquaint area homebuilders with the most current energy conservation and passive solar energy buildings techniques," said Matt Eckstein, the Office of Energy Resources' Building Standards Coordinator.

"New home buyers want to purchase homes that are inexpensive to heat. Over 1,000 Maine homebuilders have attended previous 'Sunbuilders' workshops. Response to these workshops has been overwhelmingly positive."

Topics which will be discussed at the April 11 workshop include insulation selection and installation, controlling moisture in a tight house, siting with the sun, window selection, sizing and locating glass, and marketing the solar home.

By making use of all of the techniques presented at the "Sunbuilders" workshop, a homebuilder can decrease the oil consumption in a typical home from over 1100 gallons per year to 150 gallons per year.

For registration forms or additional information, persons may contact the Home Builders Association of Maine, 187 State Street, Augusta, telephone 622-4990.

Indirect-Gain Passive Heating

This week's column will focus on passive solar heating by indirect-gain methods. To better understand how indirect gain works, it is useful to briefly review direct-gain passive heating.

With direct-gain systems, solar radiation enters the building directly through south-facing glass. This heat is then absorbed and stored in thick masonry walls and/or floors used in the interior space.

With indirect gain systems, however, there is an intermediate surface between the exterior glass and the space to be heated. It is known as a thermal mass.

The most common indirect-gain heating system employs a south-facing exterior wall of double-paned glass, behind which is a solid wall of heavy masonry (concrete, stone, brick, etc.). This thermal mass wall is usually painted black or another dark color to absorb as much heat as possible.

As sunshine enters through the glass, it is absorbed and stored as heat in the thermal wall. In addition, the air between the thermal wall and exterior glass is also heated. As the heat builds up, it is conducted through the wall and radiated into the interior living space on the other side.

Because heat moves slowly through the masonry used in the thermal wall, heat will still be radiated into the interior area long after the sun goes down. In fact, properly constructed thermal storage walls can often store enough heat for use through a 48- or 72-hour time period.

A thermal storage wall for indirect-gain heating can also be made of water. Here, contain-

MISS RUTH CROSBY

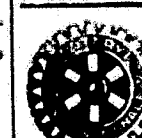

Miss Ruth Crosby, a retired University of Maine professor and a Newry summer resident, died in a Bangor hospital Wednesday, April 1, 1981.

She was born in Arlington, Mass., December 9, 1897, the daughter of J. Howell and Daisy Conant Crosby. She was educated in Arlington schools and graduated from Mt. Holyoke College, earning her master's degree and doctorate at Radcliffe College. She taught English for 39 years, 33 of them at the University of Maine. She retired in 1962 as professor emerita of English. A member of the Medieval Academy of America and the Modern Language Association, she had written many articles and reviews for scholarly journals.

She was a member of the Church of Universal Fellowship, Orono, and recently wrote a history of the Orono Health Association, where she had been a regular volunteer worker. She spent her summers at the Crosby family home in Newry. She was also a member of the Bethel Historical Society. In 1966 she wrote "I Was a Summer Boarder" and in 1974 she compiled a family trilogy, "From an Old Leather Trunk."

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Julian C. Howard of Kennebunkport and Mrs. Earl Williamson of Orono.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of Universal Fellowship, Orono, Saturday, at 11 a. m. Interment will be at Riverside Cemetery in Bethel.

INDIAN RAID EXHIBIT COMMITTEE TO BE FORMED

A meeting for all those interested in preparing exhibits for the Indian Raid Bicentennial will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 7, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Anyone interested in this project is cordially invited to attend. The exhibits will consist of a 1781 colonial home display, blacksmith shop, Indian wigwam and long houses, Indian relics, antiques, hobby items, crafts, collectibles and many more things. Some items will be for sale as well. If interested but unable to attend, please call Ronald Snyder, 836-3883, or the Bethel Historical Society 824-2908.

COUNTRY ROAD QUILTERS MEET IN BETHEL APRIL 7

Country Road Quilters of Western Maine, which is a regional group of Pine Tree Quilters, will meet in Bethel at Telstar Regional High School library on Tuesday, April 7, from 7 to 9 p. m. Following the business meeting, Andover Area Quilters will provide a program. They will display a friendship quilt which they are making and plan to use as a fund raising project next summer.

ers or barrels of water are stacked into a wall-like formation to serve the same purpose. With thermal water walls, the heating process is very similar to that of a thermal masonry wall. While water walls are highly efficient, Americans have shown a decided preference for masonry thermal walls because they can easily be integrated with most interior design styles.

Whether an individual chooses an indirect-gain heating system that uses a masonry or water wall, significant energy-bill savings can be realized, since the structure of the building itself produces its own heat without the aid of mechanical equipment.

To learn more about indirect-gain heating systems, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Robert E. Lewis (#9-A) P. O. Box 3680, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.

PADRE PARONE NEXT IN FILM SERIES

Padre Parone, an Italian film awarded the best film for 1977 at the Cannes International Film Festival, will be the next in the series at the Moses Mason Museum Wednesday, April 8, 7:30 p. m. Sponsored by the museum in cooperation with the support of the Maine Council for the Humanities and Public Policy and the National Endowment for Humanities, the film focuses upon a shepherd who had lived in almost total isolation until he turned twenty, then went on to become a professor of linguistics and write his autobiography. The film is free and open to everyone.

MAINE SCHOLARS DAY AT UMO MAY 14 & 15

More than 100 Maine high schools have already selected the most academically talented juniors who will be attending Maine Scholars Day at the University of Maine at Orono May 14 and 15. Those who attend the program will participate in an examination with the top score-getters qualifying for 50 scholarships ranging from full tuition to a quarter tuition to attend UMO as freshmen. The two-day program includes demonstrations, tours and special interest sessions, designed to acquaint the student with the excitement and challenge of higher education generally and UMO specifically.

POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS QUALIFY AS TAX CREDIT

Taxpayers making cash contributions to a political candidate in 1980 may take up to $100 as a tax credit on their joint returns, J. J. Jennings, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service in Maine, said today.

The credit is one-half of the amount contributed, up to the maximum of $50 on a single return or $100 on a joint return and may be claimed on either the Form 1040 or 1040A.

To qualify for the credit, the contributions must be made to (1) candidates for nomination or election to a federal, state, or local office in a general, primary or special election, (2) a committee sponsoring such candidates, (3) national, state or local committees of a national political party or (4) newsletter funds of an official or candidate.

More detailed information on political contributions is contained in the free IRS Publication 585, "Voluntary Tax Methods to Help Finance Political Campaigns." The publication may be ordered by using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS toll-free Tax Forms line 1-800-225-0733.

HISTORICAL SOCIETIES SEEK FORMATION OF REGIONAL ASSOCIATION

seeking regional guidance for continuing the Oxford County Historic Resource Survey which the Bethel Society undertook with a grant from the Maine Historic Preservation Commission. That support ended on March 20 due to impending federal budget cuts and Howe stated that the Bethel Society wished to see the Survey continue at least on a voluntary basis. The Director announced that the trustees of the Bethel Society had voted to continue to house the survey at their headquarters and secure volunteers to carry it on but would be unable to meet other financial outlays. Howe expressed hope that other historical groups throughout Oxford County would take it upon themselves to see that the survey was completed in their respective towns and that the Bethel Society would serve as a coordinator of this effort.

To assist the survey effort and strengthen the local history movement in Oxford County, Howe proposed a regional historical association. Those attending appeared receptive to the idea and a meeting to develop these ideas further will be held on June 13 at 2 p. m. at the Wilkins House in Waterford Flat with the Waterford Historical Society as host. Quarterly meetings throughout the county were suggested for the future. Stuart Martin of the Rumford Society, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Holman of the Dixfield Society and Stanley Howe were selected to formulate a proposal for an Oxford County organization to be considered in Waterford in June.

George Allen, Project Director of the Oxford County Survey provided an update of the progress of the survey to date indicating that it was about one quarter complete, having just been put in high gear prior to the cut off of funds. Ideas were discussed on how the survey might be carried on and it seemed likely that many historical societies will assume the burden of this effort. Alternatives for financing the survey were detailed by Allen as well as the planning has been accomplished. The Indian Raid was one of the last evidences of hostilities during the American Revolution before the British paid the Indians to disrupt outlying American colonial settlements from Canada. Thus six Indians, angered about the loss of their lands to white settlers and rewarded by the British for scalps and prisoners delivered to Quebec, attacked on August 3, 1781 the fledgling community of Sudbury Canada and carried two of its inhabitants off to Canada. They killed one man each in Gilead and Shelburne, N. H., as well. It was a relatively small episode beside several events in the American War of Independence but it struck fear into the hearts of all who remained in Sudbury Canada.

Several families fled the town never to return. The inhabitants organized a party to give chase but were advised to turn back. The settlers of Sudbury Canada petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts for protection and two stockades were built. These, however, did not prove necessary for this was to be New England's Last Indian Raid.

A number of committees have been proposed to coordinate specific parts of the Indian Raid Bicentennial. These include youth, pageant, parking, militia, food, advisory, exhibits, souvenir crafts, fund raising, advertising, dance, special events, slide show, horse show, parade, antique show and cleanup. Several already have members but all need additional members. If you might be interested in serving please let the Society know by calling 824-2908 or come to the regular steering committee meetings, the second and fourth Thursday of the month.

The next meeting will be on April 9 at 7:30 p. m. in the Eva Bean Research Room at the Dr. Moses Mason House.
